

Volunteer workflow

Actual Ground Control screens captured at 390 × 844 CSS pixels in Chrome. The walkthrough combines seeded Riverside demo records with browser-local simulated states. Signup, saves, uploads, AI results, roster generation, incident receipt, approvals and closeout were simulated for screenshots; no operational event records were changed. Alex illustrates new-account onboarding; Sarah and Mo illustrate the existing volunteer and coordinator demos. These are ordered representative journeys across preparation and live demo variants, rather than a single production transaction.

Native iOS/Android appearance, device push delivery, camera ingestion, real AI processing, email delivery and offline background retries were not validated by these captures. Voice screenshots use a simulated browser microphone and do not send or transcribe audio. Blank or first-use states are included where they explain entry into a feature; populated examples follow where relevant.

Read the numbered steps in order. Phases labelled “when needed” are conditional branches. Start a new account at step 1; returning users continue with their existing profile.

Safety decisions stay with a person. AI proposals and camera estimates inform review; coordinator approval is required before consequential crew moves.
